

Noxious Weed Neighborhood Projects, Apply Now!

The Lower Weiser River Cooperative Weed Management Area and Weed Advisory Board invites you to reach out to your neighbors and start a Neighborhood Project in your area.

Who can apply? Any group of neighbors in a rural setting that are concerned about noxious weeds in their neighborhood are encouraged to apply. Applications are now available at Washington County Weed, 1118 E. Court Street, Weiser and must be turned in to the Weed Department by noon on September 13, 2018 for the 2019 spray season.

How do we do this? Start by contacting your neighbors, see if they are interested in working together to improve plant populations in your area. Find a leader who is willing to serve as the project coordinator. This lucky person will be charged with doing the application and coordination of all the stakeholders that are involved.

Who will do the spraying? Landowners/managers do the on the ground work, the weed department offers the technical assistance with the Noxious Weed Advisory Board overseeing all CWMA activities.

How does this benefit me you ask? Noxious weeds can be an overwhelming thing however when you work as a group great things can be accomplished.

Who helps fund this? The Idaho State Department of Agriculture along with in-kind services provided by Washington County. The Weed Advisory Board has a strategic plan for future funding that you can learn more about if you form a project.

The Weed Advisory Board meets the second Tuesday of each month, 7:00 p.m. at the Weed Department. You can also contact Bonnie at 414-1950 or speak with a weed board member they would be glad to help you.
